

Laserfiche®

About Laserfiche

Laserfiche is a leading global provider of enterprise software for digitizing information and automating business processes.

With intuitive on-premises and cloud solutions for document management and process automation, Laserfiche improves productivity, efficiency and strategic decision-making for organizations looking to transform into a digital workplace.

For more than three decades, Laserfiche has fostered an active user community that shares ideas and inspires solutions. To learn more about Laserfiche, please visit laserfiche.com/about-laserfiche.

Laserfiche Key Facts

- Laserfiche software enables organizations to digitally transform, making information available, accessible and usable—anywhere, anytime, from any device. This transformation improves productivity, efficiency and strategic decision-making, giving employees the time to do more of the work that matters.
- Laserfiche was founded by Nien-Ling Wacker, a woman who began her career building software out of her home in the 1970s. The Long Beach, California-based company has grown into a globally recognized brand with offices in the United States, Hong Kong, Canada, China, Mexico and the U.K.
- Customers in nearly every industry, including government, education, financial services and healthcare, use Laserfiche in more than 80 countries around the world. To learn more about Laserfiche's industry-specific solutions, download a fact sheet:
 - Laserfiche for Government
 - Laserfiche for Higher Education
 - Laserfiche for K-12
- Laserfiche keeps customers at the core of every innovation and business decision. Users come together both online and face-to-face, at user groups and the annual Empower Conference, to network, learn from each other and innovate together.
- Laserfiche was founded on the idea that its technology could change the world. Philanthropy and community outreach are natural extensions of Laserfiche's business purpose. Through its corporate social responsibility initiative, Laserfiche Cares, the company supports employee-led initiatives to sponsor and volunteer for organizations focused on causes such as diversity and inclusivity, environmental sustainability and educating the next generation of business and community leaders.